Why should I vote YES on the September 14th Recall Election?

To demand that politicians follow the same rules they set for us

After ordering Californians to stay home and avoid social gatherings, Gavin Newsom arrogantly ignored his own edicts by dining with lobbyists at the expensive French Laundry restaurant while not wearing a mask or social distancing.

To improve Public Safety

Crime is spiking in California, yet Gavin Newsom ordered the early release of 20 thousand prison inmates and is giving another 76 thousand the chance to leave prison before serving their full terms. Meanwhile, he's done nothing to fix the law that allows criminals to get away with serial thefts with almost no consequences.

To end unemployment fraud and get benefits to those in need

Gavin Newsom's Employment Development Department has sent over $30 billion in fraudulent check to prison inmates and other criminals, while forcing hundreds of thousands of out-of-work Californians to wait for months for money they are owed.

To get the unhoused the help they need while cleaning up our communities

While Gavin Newsom continues to claim that homelessness is his top priority, the problem has gotten much worse since he has been in office. He now wants to spend an additional $12 billion in tax dollars on new programs and says it will take five more years (!) to make a dent in homelessness.

To get our kids back into classrooms

Gavin Newsom allowed teacher unions, not science, to dictate when schools would reopen and whether students will be forced to get vaccinated or wear masks in the classroom this fall. While your children were forced to continue distance learning, his own children were attending in-person classes at their prestigious private school.

To prioritize wildfire prevention, not treat it as an afterthought

Gavin Newsom cut $150 million dollars from the state's fire protection budget and misled the public about his fire protection record, exaggerating by over 690% the number of acres protected under his own program and leaving over 78,000 acres vulnerable to devastating fires. Experts refer to the fires now burning in our state as "fuel-driven" – a direct result of the Governor's neglect.

To accelerate new water storage projects the voters approved years ago and protect residential water supplies

While millions of water customers are facing severe restrictions on their personal water usage, Gavin Newsom's biggest campaign donor continues to use 120 billion gallons a year - enough to supply all of the residents of Los Angeles and San Francisco for an entire year, and the governor hasn't lifted a finger to get new water storage built – storage approved many years ago by California's voters.

To put a stop to Gavin Newsom's COVID corruption

Gavin Newsom agreed to a secretive nearly one-billion-dollar state contract to produce face masks with a politically connected company in Communist China. A head of the company had donated tens of thousands of dollars to Newsom's campaign. Without the legislature knowing, the company was wired half a million dollars. Even now, after the CDC has lifted most COVID-19 restrictions, Gavin Newsom has refused to give up the emergency executive powers he invoked during the pandemic, allowing him to continue awarding no-bid multi-million dollar contracts to his biggest campaign donors.

Because emergency powers should be used to help Californians, not campaign donors

Due to high taxes and fees, Californians pay over $1.20 more than the national average for a gallon of gas, but Gavin Newsom refused to stop or delay a 50-cent-per-gallon gas tax increase on July 1. Californians are paying almost double what residents of Texas pay for a gallon of gas.

To get a Governor who puts the PEOPLE first, not his own pocketbook

Governor Newsom ordered 10% pay cuts for state workers because of the pandemic. Newsom promised to reduce his own pay, but broke his promise and continued to collect his full monthly salary. Also, companies in which the Governor has an ownership interest received millions of dollars from the Paycheck Protection Program. One of the companies is a winery that received nearly $1 million to protect just 14 jobs - more than SEVEN times the average small business loan to other California companies with a similar number of workers.
